COURT.—The Judge closed his charge to the jury in the case of Clark vs. Burton at 11:40 to-day, and the case was submitted for their final consideration and decision, and they retired at noon, and no verdict has been given up to the time of our going to press.

The further business of the court will occupy the remainder of the week, it is supposed. The Lamotte County Court commences the May term on Tuesday next, at Hyde Park, Judge Wilson presiding.

COUNTY TREASURER.—C. N. Bishop, Esq., Assistant Cashier of the Vermont National Bank, has been reappointed County Treasurer by the Court.

A CLEAN EAGLE.—Washington Engine Company No. 1 of our enterprising Fire Department washed the eagle at the top of the pole in the Park, at their drill Wednesday evening, consequently throwing a stream 165 feet high, through 200 feet of hose. There was a grade of about ten feet against them. This we call very creditable work, or in other words washing the eagle.

A SUGGESTION.—We respectfully suggest that the political campaign be opened hereby a ratification meeting on Tuesday of next week, or on some other day as soon as practicable after the result of the Chicago convention is made known. There certainly ought to be as much enthusiasm now as there was when the formation of a Grand Club was proposed, and we hope that a move may be made at an early day for the commencement of a spirited campaign.

THE Burlington Times say that a "Fenian State Convention of the O. K. Roberts" will meet in Burlington on the 20th of June. Gen. John O. Neil, known as Mr. Eric O. Neil, who, like Gen. Sweeney is one of the few genuine fighting men of the order, is expected to be present.

MR. O. S. BLISS, of Georgia, was present at the recent meeting of the Farmers' Club in New York, and exhibited some specimens of maplesugar. An interesting address was delivered by Mr. Henry Bergh.

REV. H. K. COMB, Pastor of the Methodist Church in this place, is now in Chicago in attendance on the Convention of his Church in that city.

RETAKEN.—Constock, who broke from the jail in this place about the first of this month, was retaken about daylight this morning, and returned to captivity. He was first seen near Swanton Centre by a boy, who recognized him and gave the alarm, but he succeeded in getting off about a mile and a half, on a cross road, and being quite tired out he sat down by a stone wall, against which he leaned his head, and went to sleep. He awoke, much to his surprise, no doubt, a prisoner of Deputy Sheriff Morrow. Constock was committed first on a charge of stealing coats in Swanton.

We learn from the Times that Ole Bull had a crowded house in Burlington, on Wednesday evening. The performances of the great violinist were "The Nightingale," "Fantasia upon a Russian Legend," "The Mothers prayer," "Recitative and Carnival of Venice." In answer to enthusiastic calls for "more," he played "Home, Sweet Home," next a beautiful piece that we suspect was of his own improvising, and closed with a melody of "National Airs." Mr. Gustavus F. Hall has a very fine baritone voice, and superbly rendered "Largo al Factotum."

THE PERIPATETICS.—The season of the wandering minstrels has arrived, and we respectfully beg leave to announce it. Again we "Listen to the Mocking Bird," and are reminded that "Maxwellton's Braes are Bonny." The bouquet of sunny lands, and the musical reminiscences of foreign genius are lavishly bestowed on us from harp and flute and viol, and for a moment we are oblivious to chill and the pinch of rheumatic pain, and away down in our heart some forgotten voice murmurs: "la! la! Then we are recalled to facts without fancy by the beseeching appearance of a penniless hat, and the dream of music and sunny skies fades away.

At a town meeting held in Swanton, May 20th, the town voted to accept the "Enabling Act," relating to the building of the Lamotte Valley Railroad by a vote of 221 to 135.

On June 3rd, a $50 purse will be trotted for at Middlebury, best two in three, open to all two-year-olds owned in the county; 1st $35, 2d $15. On Thursday, the 4th, a $100 purse will be trotted for, open to all horses, best three in five, four to enter, three to start.

The Vergennes Vermonter says a taxpayer in Middlebury informs us that the dog tax of that town will pay over $300 towards building their splendid new school house.

A Good Book.—One of the most interesting and best books which we have glanced through among new publications, is a book of 715 pages, just issued by Holland & Co., Springfield, entitled "Emmanuel; or the Life of Jesus Christ our Lord," by Zachary Eddy, D. D., with an introduction by Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Brooklyn. The work is designed for the use of families, we judge, is excellently printed finely and profusely illustrated, and substantially bound. We have opened it in various places, and invariably found the matter of an interesting character, so much so that we have laid it down reluctantly. The celebrity of the writer of this work will go far to commend it to the favorable consideration of a large number of our readers, and we trust that when the agent of the Publishers, W. K. Rice, calls upon them, the work will receive the examination which it fairly merits.

FOUND.—A broken jet cross, found on England street yesterday, may be recovered by the owner, at this office.

Vermont Medical Society.

The semi-annual session of this Society will be held at Windsor on Wednesday and Thursday, June 10th and 11th, commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., Wednesday. The Railroad of the State will carry all persons attending the meeting for fare one way—receiving the Society's certificate for the return passage. The address of the Vice President, Dr. E. N. S. Morgan, of Bennington, will be delivered on Wednesday evening, and will be followed by a social reunion of members of the profession, natives of Vermont, who are residents of other States.

The subject for discussion before the Society is Typhoid, Dysentery. Dr. O. F. Fassett, of St. Albans, is appointed to read a paper on the subject which will be followed by discussion. Papers on other subjects are promised from various members of the Society. C. P. Frost, President, and L. C. Butler, Secretary, in their circular, issued in behalf of the Society say:

There are nearly five hundred regular Physicians in the State, but—without shame be it said—by far the larger portion of them are not members of the State Society. For some cause they stand aloof from it, and in consequence the Society has languished for want of interest in its meetings, and for funds. This ought not to be. Every regular Physician in the State ought to be a member of the State Society, and each contribute his mite to swell the accumulating fund for medical science. Duty to ourselves, as the immediate recipients of its benefits; to humanity, for whose welfare we labor; and to our profession, the noblest service in which any can be engaged, and which will be elevated by our frequent comingings—demands, it seems to us, the earnest co-operation of every regular practitioner in the State in sustaining the State Society. If, therefore, you are not already a member, we would urge you at once to send your name, residence, date of your diploma, and whence derived, to the Secretary for your County, that you may be enrolled among its members, and greet us with your presence and counsel at Windsor.

HOME TRADE.—The following from the Rutland Herald is as good for St. Albans as for Rutland:

Some persons have a mania for going out of town to purchase that which they can buy at home, as though any article coming from a distance was better than the same at home. This is decidedly wrong and detrimental to the place in which you live. Disburse your money where your interest lies. "Live and let live." Do not be deceived into the idea that you can save a great amount of money by sending away for goods that can be obtained of neighbors, for you cannot do it. Look at our advertising columns, and you will see the names of enterprising men, who can fill your orders in some instances lower than New York or Boston prices.

FISH-BREEDING IN NEW ENGLAND.—Man has in a measure controlled the migratory fish, and with suitable legislation can make their enormous fecundity tributary to his support. The economy of the artificial over the natural method is much greater than is supposed. It is nearly as fifty to one. Every river can be stocked with fish at small cost, to the extreme limit of its capacity to nourish them. It will not cost much to hatch a million of salmon in the upper waters of the Connecticut as it does to raise a single calf upon its banks. The finest varieties of fish ought to be the choicest food in the market, and cannot fail to be, if all our states will follow the example of the New England States, and encourage artificial breeding.—Es.

OVERWORK AND UNDERWORK.—If we could eliminate from all effort the element of fret, it might be doubted whether there are many brains among us that are overworked, after all. An English writer says:

After all, how many people really overwork their brains? A great many persons derive great honor from the reputation of hard work, just as many people are supposed to be wonderful men of business because they always docket their letters carefully and file them up with red tape. Yet a man may be muddle-headed and dilatory even if he puts all his papers into careful pigeon-holes, and some men who claim our pity for their herculean labors contrive to interpolate a wonderful quantity of gossip and luncheon and general relaxation. Is it possible that, in spite of the prevalent outcry about the needs of a busy age, our great want is, after all, the want of a little more, instead of a little less, mental activity?

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial says Forney will probably be restored to the Secretaryship of the Senate through the influence of Sumner, Chandler, and the Radical Senators, who will oppose the acceptance of his resignation.
